

This is a separate program that contains 6 foreign languages packaged together (i.e. French, German, Spanish, Italian, Portuguese and English) and translates English into any of the other five languages (or vice-versa ) directly as you type. The program has 2 screens i.e. the top typing screen and the bottom translation screen.

It can also translate files stored in the computer into the selected language. It translates per sentence (and not per word) and so the level of accuracy is quite high. Emails or reports received in a particular language can be copied and pasted into the top screen of the program and directly translated into the selected language on the bottom screen.